Nowheres and Elsewheres (Land-Lubber's Chanty)

Eric Weiskott

This is the ballad of a country performing feats of permanent war. These are the vocal chords of our neighborhood. Above the cedars, ghostly galleons encircle the midday sun. This is no place. My child's future prison is located in a suburb. Enclosure expresses the importance of abolishing communal farming. Meanwhile, in the deep reach of the ikea forest, sacral ceremonies of the hart. Watch the hunter tear the throat from a live oak. Watch the corporation dancing in a variety of forms around its own self. Watch this music video. Watch it. For chanty, read shanty. For personal, read American. For prophet, sing profit. This is the chorus.
